

March 2010

What hand does the A/R hold the flag during active play?

- A) Hand closes to the center referee
- B) Hand furthest from the center referee

Answer A

As an A/R you should position yourself in line with second to last defender or the ball, whichever is closer to the goal line

- A) True B) False

Answer True

Immediately after a score the Assistant Referee should makes eye contact with referee and runs a short distance up the touch line toward the halfway line. This indicates a goal has been scored.

- A) True B) False

Answer True

To alert the referee there is offside you should raise the flag vertically. Once the referee acknowledges the offside you should point the flag to either far, middle or near side.

- A) True B) False

Answer True

To alert the referee there is an infringement by defense in the penalty area you should raise the flag vertically. Once the referee acknowledges this you hold the flag across the lower body and then move to the direction of the closes corner flag

- A) True B )False

Answer True